The National HPV Vaccination Roundtable invites health care professionals and systems to join our efforts to reduce incidence of and mortality from HPV cancers. Bringing together the most current facts, interventions and promising strategies, our national thought leaders have created a suite of six action guides that can be immediately put to into practice as part of your immunization or quality improvement efforts.

The Clinician and System Action Guides are tailored for six audiences, and designed as part of a comprehensive strategy:

1 Physicians/ Physician Assistants/ Nurse Practitioners	2 Nurses & Medical Assistants	3 Dental Health Professionals	4 Large Health System Leaders	5 Office Administrative Teams	6 Small Private Practice Leaders

Each guide contains role-specific actions and shares common messaging and information across audiences, including:

- Facts about HPV cancers and vaccination
- Rationale for prioritizing HPV vaccination
- Recommended actions, interventions and promising strategies
- Detailed appendix of resources

All guides are available online for free download at hpvroundtable.org/action-guides.

By instituting system changes to improve HPV vaccination, your practice or health system can reduce future suffering, lower costs associated with treatment, and ultimately help save patients' lives.

"We hope clinicians and health systems across the county can use this information to raise HPV vaccination rates," said Margot Savoy, MD, chair of the National HPV Vaccination Roundtable Provider Training Task Group. "The guides represent our best current knowledge to help promote the prevention of HPV cancers. There is so much potential in sharing this knowledge."

Let us know what your system is doing to increase HPV vaccination rates through our "We're In" Story Collector at hpvroundtable.org/were-in.

CANCER PREVENTION

Through HPV Vaccination in Your Practice

AN ACTION GUIDE FOR PHYSICIANS, PHYSICIAN ASSISTANTS, AND NURSE PRACTITIONERS

You have the power to reduce the incidence of human papillomavirus (HPV) cancers and pre-cancers among patients in your care. HPV cancer prevention starts with you.

Make it your goal for every patient you care for to be vaccinated against HPV before the age of 13. Every member of a practice plays a critical role in advocating for HPV vaccination as cancer prevention and should work together to make it happen.

BE A PART OF THE CANCER PREVENTION COMMUNITY.
TAKE THESE ACTIONS TO INCREASE HPV VACCINATION WITHIN YOUR PRACTICE TODAY.

- Make a presumptive recommendation
Your recommendation is the #1 reason parents choose to vaccinate their children. Presumptive statements—brief statements that assume parents are ready to vaccinate—are most effective.
- Answer parents' questions
Answering parents' questions effectively builds trust. After you make a presumptive recommendation, be prepared to emphasize that the vaccine is safe, effective, and prevents cancer.
- Minimize missed opportunities
Use every opportunity to provide vaccination and keep patients up to date. Every visit, check to see if a patient is due for vaccinations. Create provider prompts in your EHR.
- Take the team approach
Empower every member of your team to be an HPV vaccine champion. Endorses standing orders, provide in-service training, and try motivational interviewing to prepare for vaccine-hesitant parents.
- Evaluate and sustain success
Establishing systematic ways to evaluate your success. Implement QI strategies for increasing immunization coverage rate. Know your rates and how they compare against your practice's goals.
